Most Severe May Snow
Storm in History of District

One of the worst spring blizzards this district has ever experienced raged throughout the whole of Friday and Saturday and continued intermittently through Sunday. But, though the storm was terrific and in many districts caused heavy losses to stockmen and in Lomond was responsible for the death of a well-known farmer, in this district it brought nothing but potential prosperity.

Enquiries among the stockmen in the north show that the cattle weathered the storm in splendid shape.

North west the snow-fall was exceptionally heavy, drifts being found on the Irricana line eight to twelve feet deep. The South west part of the district also had more snow than Bassano, but the immediate district is well satisfied with its share of moisture.

It is generally conceded now that a bumper crop is almost assured, for there is sufficient moisture in the soil to carry the grain through six or seven weeks of the severest drought conditions.

Wheat seeding is practically completed and oats seeding is well forward. There will apparently be only a light acreage sown to Flax this year, which is rather hard to understand as there is every probability of the price being higher than ever.

Wheat is growing rapidly and does not seem to have been affected in any way by the light frosts of the past week.

Remember to clean up.

One of these days YOU will realise just what makes the difference between a well-dressed man and one who wears Factory made clothing.

The former has his clothes built to HIS measure and has a distinct relation to them; the latter looks as if he uses his body as something to hang clothes on.

The man who has his clothes tailored by us will save money and look well-dressed all the time

A large number of complaints have been received recently at the Town Hall with regard to the deplorable conditions existing at the rear of some of the stores on Second Avenue, many of the premises being declared in a most disgusting and unwholesome condition which is not only an offense to the organs of sight and smell but also a positive menace to the public health.

We have been informed upon the best authority that after Clean-up Day which has been declared for Thursday, May 15th, the Council will prosecute to the full extent of the law all those whose personal sense of decency and cleanliness is not sufficiently developed to persuade them to keep their premises clean.

It seems almost impossible to believe that in this nineteenth year of the twentieth century people are to be found who require the force of law exerted before they will be clean.

But thanks to the fact that this is the nineteenth year of the twentieth century, we have laws and men brave enough to enforce them, to compel even storekeepers to keep their stores in a clean and sanitary condition, for it is only equitable, when sufferers from fevers, small-pox and other contagious diseases have to be quarantined to protect the public, that those who disregard the laws of cleanliness and are responsible for the outbreak of such disease should be punished with the utmost severity.

We are authorized to issue this warning to those whose premises are unclean and who have hitherto totally disregarded the requests of the Health officers issued in the press and otherwise to clean up for health's sake, that after Thursday, May 15th, they will not only be compelled to clean up but will also be visited with the extreme penalty of the law.

So people, clean up first because you like to be clean; secondly for the sake of your own and the community health; and lastly for the sake of appearances and the saving of law costs.

R. P. Findlay, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, received notice this week that he will shortly be transferred to Owen Sound, Ont.

Mr. Findlay will be greatly missed, not only in the Bank, but also by the many organisations notably the Red Cross in which he was an active and enthusiastic worker.

Hotbeds and Frames

By B. OXLEY.

Now assuming you are going to make a frame, that is a forcing frame, that has been received recently at the Town Hall with regard to the deplorable conditions existing at the rear of some of the stores on Second Avenue, many of the premises being declared in a most disgusting and unwholesome condition which is not only an offense to the organs of sight and smell but also a positive menace to the public health.

If you want to make a frame, turn soil and prepare, mark out the site of the bed, making it about two feet wider than the frame you are going to use. Drive a short stake at each corner and from these stakes spread the manure evenly and tread firmly over it. Proceed until a bed three or four feet deep has been built--deeper if material is plentiful. On this place your frame and drive a few stones right through the soil to hold it in place. Try to cover the whole surface inside the frame with about an inch of soil. Many good gardeners do not agree with this, I know, but I think it is better to be safe than sorry. Turn over the topsoil, add a piece of old carpet or burlap that will completely cover the frame and hang over the sides well to help to conserve the heat. If very keen frosts occur it will be necessary to pile manure up to the outside walls of the frame.

After raising your seedlings such as onions, cabbages, cauliflower, carrots, etc., etc., the hotbed, which has now ceased to be hot can be advantageously used for melons, cucumbers, etc.

A hotbed without a frame put together will not last long, so it must be made with a striking outline or for raised seedlings an annual flower, but of course the work for this kind of bed comes on at a slightly later period when there is less chance of damage by frost.

Both fibrous rooted and tuberous root vegetables are easily raised from seed on a hotbed, and this kind and make lovely plants for the house.

The frame should be made fairly substantial. The atmosphere within the frame should be moist, what the gardener terms a "growing atmosphere". If it tends to dry quickly, a shallow pan of water placed in the frame will put matters right.

Slender hotbeds and rough frames covered with cloth can be used for early carrots, radishes, lettuce and first crop salads.

Those who have not used a hotbed for preceding seedlings should have one. It is a valuable addition to the garden, but not burn the leaves when cleaning up in fall or spring, use them in your hottest manner.

Watch for overheating, and perhaps most particularly of all, turn and return the manure before placing in site.

It was decided that the Secretary-Treasurer be granted temporary clerical assistance until such time as the arrears of work have been overtaken, at a rate of salary not exceeding $17.50 per week.

The Committee appointed under Resolution No. 440 of the last Council meeting to enquire into the cost of the proposed water and sewer connections to the new headquarters of the Dept. Natural Resources, C.P.R., reported and recommended as follows:

Proposed Scheme: A 6' water main to be run from the existing connection at the intersection of 5th St. East and 2nd Ave., to the intersection of 9th St. East and 2nd Ave., with valves, hydrants and connections as shown on plan of water system filed in the Town Hall.

Service will be held in the Anglican Church on Sunday next at 11 a.m.

Billy Somerville was another guest of the Masons who took advantage of the week end to renew old acquaintances.

Mrs. Walter Morlock who has been visiting at the McKinnon Ranch for the past week returned to town on Tuesday.

We are glad to notice a large road gang in town and hope to be able to notice some good results of its activities out of town shortly.

Fred Hawkins was one of Bassano's old-timers who couldn't resist the temptation of a Masonic Dance, and stayed over till Sunday rekindling old friendships.

Among the latest arrivals from overseas is Fred (affectionately known as "Fat") Hall. Over three years of particularly active service have failed to erase "Fat's" cheerful smile or diminish his girth and his many friends in Bassano are delighted to see him back.

And talking about shade reminds us that Friday next is Arbor Day and our citizens are asked to prune their trees and plant their shrubs and flowers etc., on that day and in fact to anything which will hurry on the idea of Bassano Beautiful.

Mr. Nock, formerly of the Union Bank staff of Strathmore and latterly of the Union Army of the Allies, has been appointed Teller-Accountant of the local branch, Mr. J. Hume, who has accepted a position with the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., of Trail, B.C.

J. O. Reynolds and E. W. Campbell were visitors in town on Tuesday, both of whom showed their appreciation of the crop prospects by subscribing for the "Mail". If all our farmer friends did likewise we might be persuaded to publish a few weather forecasts, and we promise that they would be well enough to meet the most thrifty anti-prohibitionist.

No one wishing to cross from one side of the street to the other last Saturday and Sunday could have failed to heartily endorse Mr. Oxley's statement re: beautiful Bassano. The crossings were so bad that a large number of people were prevented from attending Church, which seriously annoyed the majority of our councillors and especially our worthy solicitor, who remarks on the subject were to say the least non-conciliatory.

Some people treat trouble and disappointment as they would mosquito bites by ignoring them; others also treat troubles and disappointments as they would mosquito bites by constantly rubbing and irritating them till they succeed in raising something worth worrying over. Moral: treat trouble and disappointment as you would a mosquito bite.

Talking about mosquitos did you notice that the "Ford" has a competitor for cheapness at any rate? An Old Country engineer having created a car out of coal ash, clinker etc. which he is selling for $250 to $300. That has tin cans and sand dust beaten a mile, but he will have to go some before he puts "Lizzie" in the shade.

Mother's Day will be observed in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday first, May 11th, morning and evening. At 10:30 a special programme consisting of readings, recitations and music will be carried out for which beautifully illustrated programmes have been prepared. The parents are urged to come out and join with the children in honouring the Mothers on that day. In the evening at 7:30 the Mother's Day service will be continued, and the minister will speak on the subject "The Companionship of Life". Gophysical Special mode at this service. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the services and so honour their Mothers, the greatest heritage of our race.

Is Bassano Ugly?

Mr. Oxley says Yes--BUT

YOU may help to beautify the Town by beautifying your home with one or more coats of Brandram-Henderson's Paints, for these paints will purify and protect as well as decorate. We have a patent and perfect color scheme which will enable you to choose your colors without fear of making mistakes
